The Assistant Administrator for External Affairs (OEA) proposes to transfer responsibility for most delegations under the Noise Control Act of 1972 to the Assistant Administrator for Air and Radiation (OAR) who was originally responsible for these delegations. OEA and OAR agree that OAR can better manage any regulatory and technical issues arising under the Act. OEA will retain responsibility for information dissemination, education, and approval of grants and cooperative agreements (delegation 11-10).

MEMORANDUM

SUBJECT: Approval of Revised Noise Delegations under the Noise Control Act of 1972—DECISION MEMORANDUM

FROM: Charles L. Grizzle
Assistant Administrator

TO: The Administrator

THRU: AX
The Deputy Administrator

PROPOSAL

The Assistant Administrator for External Affairs (OEA) proposes to transfer responsibility for most delegations under the Noise Control Act of 1972 to the Assistant Administrator for Air and Radiation (OAR). Under this proposal, OEA would transfer to OAR those delegations that deal with regulatory and technical issues. OEA would retain responsibility for information dissemination, education, and approval of grants and cooperative agreements.

BACKGROUND

Authorities under the Noise Control Act were originally delegated to the Assistant Administrator for OAR. In July, 1986, however, those authorities were transferred to the Assistant Administrator for OEA, because that Office had assumed primary responsibility for monitoring the Noise program. Now OEA proposes to transfer the regulatory and technical authorities back to OAR, because OAR is in a better position to manage adequately the regulatory and technical specifics of the program.
REVIEW AND ANALYSIS

The Management and Organization Division has worked closely with both OEA and OAR in developing these proposed revised delegations. The Division agrees with OEA and OAR that their proposal appropriately splits the regulatory and technical issues from the education and information services that OEA will retain.

The Offices on the attached Green Border have reviewed the delegations and have concurred. The Office of the Comptroller noted its concern that, should the Noise Program become more active in the future, OAR and the Office of General Counsel will have to determine appropriate funding mechanisms. OAR and OGC have agreed to do that if the need arises.

RECOMMENDATION

I believe this proposal is appropriate and consistent with the Agency's approach to delegations of authority and recommend that you approve the revised delegations by signing below.
